Sam is well known in Australia for his appearance on Australian Survivor. After joining the reality show, Sam appeared in Network Tens long running drama series, Neighbours. A graduate of Sydney's drama school, Screenwise, Sam has also received credit for his work in the feature film documentary, Suicide: The Ripple Effect which premiered in LA, in March 2018. Sam has also received credit for his presenting work on TV.

Sam has received notable recognition for his work in co-founding the mental health organization and charity, LIVIN after the death of his good friend to suicide. The core of their mission is to break the stigma around mental health through merchandise, events and programs that run in schools and workplaces around Australia.
